June 3, 2019 - Ft. Lauderdale, FL - We are pleased to announce that eight Becker attorneys are newly minted as Florida Bar Board Certified in Condominium & Planned Development Law.

The specialty encompasses the practice of law that involves representing community associations and their members, property owners, sellers, purchasers, developers, lenders, governmental agencies, and investors in matters related to community associations and planned developments.

The newly certified specialists in Condominium & Planned Development Law are as follows:

- JoAnn Nesta Burnett - Ft. Lauderdale
- Jennifer Bales Drake - Ft. Lauderdale
- Yeline Goin - Orlando
- Jennifer Horan - Naples
- Marilyn Perez-Martinez - Miami
- Howard J. Perl - Ft. Lauderdale
- Marty Platts - West Palm Beach
- Joy Mattingly - Ft. Lauderdale

Becker now has 27 board certified attorneys in Condominium & Planned Development Law, by far the most of any law firm in the state of Florida - our nearest competitor in the community association space has only six.

This brings the Firm's total number of board certified attorneys to 51 across all specialties including Business Litigation Law, Civil Trial Law, Condominium & Planned Development Law, Construction Law, Elder Law, International Law, and Real Estate Law. Becker has more board certified attorneys than any other law firm in Florida, which is a testament to the Firm's commitment to professional development and to our clients. We are proud to have attained this status and are determined to maintain it.

Board certification demands rigorous testing and is in recognition of having the highest standards of skill, specialty knowledge, proficiency, professionalism, and ethics in a particular area of the law.
